PREFACE

The Organisation for Economic Cooperation and Development (OECD) defines corporate governance as “the system by which business corporations are directed and controlled. The corporate governance structure specifies the distribution of rights and responsibilities among different participants in the corporation, such as, the board, managers, shareholders and other stakeholders, and spells out the rules and procedures for making decisions on corporate affairs. By doing this, it also provides the structure through which the company objectives are set, and the means of attaining those objectives and monitoring performance.”

This is the fourteenth edition of the corporate governance manual, the first edition being issued in 2000. This manual outlines the main legislation under which the Corporation operates; the key policies adopted; the roles, responsibilities and procedures of the Managing Board and its relationship with the executive management; and the Code of Ethics and Conduct that all employees should follow.

SECTION 1: CORPORATION AND MANAGING BOARD – ROLE OF THE CHAIRMAN, STANDING ORDERS, RULES FOR CONDUCT OF CORPORATION BUSINESS AND COMMITTEES OF THE MANAGING BOARD

THE CORPORATION

101 The Kowloon-Canton Railway Corporation (KCRC) is a public corporation established by statute and is wholly owned by the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region. It is charged with the task of operating and developing domestic, cross-boundary and intercity railway services in a prudent commercial manner. However, under the provisions of the Rail Merger Ordinance passed by Hong Kong's Legislative Council in June 2007, on 2 December 2007 the MTR Corporation assumed day-to-day responsibility for operating KCRC's railway assets by way of the grant of a service concession for an initial period of 50 years, which is extendable. KCRC retains ownership of the railway assets covered in the service concession agreement and receives annual payments from the MTR Corporation comprising a fixed sum of $750 million and a variable sum calculated as a sliding scale proportion of annual gross revenue above $2.5 billion generated by the MTR Corporation from the KCRC railway assets.

102 In August 2018, the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region vested the land and interests or other rights in respect of the land for the operation of the Hong Kong Section of the Guangzhou-Shenzhen-Hong Kong Express Rail Link (XRL) and assigned the movable assets of the XRL to the Corporation. Subsequently, the Corporation, as the owner of the XRL assets, granted the right to operate the XRL to MTR Corporation for a concession period of 10 years under a Supplemental Service Concession Agreement (SSCA). Under this SSCA, the Corporation shall reimburse MTR Corporation for the Pre-Operating Costs directly resulted from the planning and commencement of the operation of the XRL and shall make fixed annual payments to MTR Corporation totalling $7,965 million during the 10-year concession period. In return, the Corporation is entitled to receive Variable Annual Payment from MTR Corporation, calculated on the revenue generated from the operation of the XRL. Should the MTR Corporation fail to observe the terms of the agreements, there is provision for KCRC to take back and operate its assets.

103 In February 2020, the land or interests or other rights in respect of the land for the operation of the Tuen Ma Line Phase 1 (TML1), forming part of the Shatin to Central Link (SCL), were vested in and the movable assets of the TML1 were assigned to the Corporation by the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region. In June 2021, the land or interests or other rights in respect of the land for the operation of the full Tuen Ma Line (TML), forming part of the SCL were vested in and the movable assets of the TML were assigned to the Corporation by the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region. Following the completion of the full TML, the Corporation entered into a supplemental service concession agreement with MTR Corporation under which MTR Corporation was granted the right to operate the TML for a concession period of two years. The full TML commenced its commercial operation on 27 June 2021. The Corporation expects this agreement to be superseded by a subsequent supplemental service concession agreement with MTR Corporation for the operation of the SCL upon its completion.

104 KCRC retains a small management team responsible for management and financing of its debts, and for investing any available funds. KCRC is also responsible for monitoring the MTR Corporation's compliance with its various obligations under the merger-related agreements, including revenue sharing, annual payments, outsourcing to MTR Corporation of specified KCRC day-to-day activities, and for managing its remaining subsidiaries.

SUBMISSIONS TO THE MANAGING BOARD AND ITS COMMITTEES

171 The Managing Board has consciously decided to limit its consideration to those key matters specified in the Rules for Conduct of Corporation Business. The Chief Officer is responsible for deciding what other matters should be submitted to the Managing Board or one of its Committees. Advice may be sought from the Company Secretary.

172 The Chief Officer has a duty to ensure that all submissions to the Managing Board and its Committees (except the Audit Committee) state the relevant issues and proposals succinctly and definitively. In the case of the Audit Committee, the Chief Officer will only be concerned with those parts of papers which reflect Management's responses to audit findings and recommendations, and not with the findings and recommendations of either the Internal Auditor or the External Auditor, which will not be subject to amendment or softening.

173 The Chief Officer is responsible for deciding the content of papers to be submitted to the Board. In addition, the Chief Officer will ensure that the Chairman is appropriately briefed on the content of papers. The Chairman has the responsibility to ensure that the content of papers submitted to the Managing Board accord with the policy previously laid down by the Managing Board, and where they do not, to bring this to the attention of the Chief Officer. In consultation with the Chairman, the Chief Officer will then be responsible for deciding whether any paper should be withdrawn from the agenda, whether the content of any paper should be amended to accord with the approved policy or whether the Managing Board's approval should be sought to amend the prevailing policy. Where the Chairman holds a different view from those expressed in a paper, Management will ensure that the Chairman's views and arguments are incorporated in the paper.

174 All papers relating to matters falling within the terms of reference of a Board Committee must be considered by that Committee before being submitted to the Board unless the Board or the Chairman declares otherwise.

175 The Chairman, and Members having cleared any board paper initiated by them with the Chairman, may submit papers to the Managing Board in accordance with paragraph 134.

SECTION 3: CODE OF BUSINESS AND EMPLOYEE CONDUCT

POLICY

301 It is universally accepted that stakeholders and the public generally now demand more accountability from organisations providing essential public services. This means having greater transparency in respect of both the corporate entity and the actions of individuals whose ethical behaviour is exposed to increasingly greater scrutiny. The Corporation and those employed by it are no exceptions.

302 It is incumbent upon the Corporation as matter of good corporate governance to promulgate appropriate requirements which will maintain an acceptable balance between transparency, on the one hand, and individuals' rights, particularly as to privacy, on the other.

303 – 310 (not used)

CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT

311 The Corporation's Code of Business conduct is set out below.

Standard of Conduct: The KCRC conducts its operations with honesty, integrity and openness. It believes in fair competition, and respects the legitimate interests of those to whom it provides services and with whom it conducts business. The KCRC, its subsidiaries and its employees are required to comply with the laws of the HKSAR and of wherever else it conducts business.

Corporate Governance: The KCRC conducts its operations in accordance with internationally accepted principles of good corporate governance, and provides timely, regular and reliable information on its activities, structure, financial situation and performance to the Government as its sole shareholder.

Access To information: The KCRC recognises the need for the community to be well informed about the Corporation, the activities it undertakes and the processes and procedures that it adopts. It therefore provides access to information to the extent practicable in conformity with the principles laid down in the Hong Kong SAR Government's Code of Access to Information.

Community Involvement: The KCRC strives to be a good corporate citizen. It co-operates with the Government and other organisations in the promotion of community activities that support the Corporation's image as a good corporate citizen. The KCRC neither supports political parties nor contributes to the funds of groups whose activities are calculated to promote party interests.

The Environment: The KCRC is committed to making continuous improvements in the management of the environmental impact of its activities with the goal of developing a sustainable business.

Employees: The KCRC respects the rights and interests of its employees and is committed to supporting a working environment where there is mutual trust and respect, and where everyone feels responsible for the performance and reputation of the Corporation. It recruits, employs and promotes employees on the sole basis of their qualifications, experience and merit. The Corporation is committed to ensuring safe and healthy working conditions for all employees, and to working with employees to develop and enhance each individual's skills and capabilities. It respects the right of employees to freedom of association, and will maintain good communications with employees through appropriate information and consultation procedures. In return, all KCRC employees are expected to avoid personal activities and financial interests that could conflict with their responsibilities to the Corporation.

Compliance: Day-to-day responsibility is delegated to the senior management of the Corporation for implementing these principles. Compliance with the Code is subject to review by the Managing Board supported by the Audit Committee.

312 – 320 (not used)

The obligations under that code apply independently and are not a part of the Code of Ethics.

403 – 410 (not used)

CODE OF ETHICS FOR SENIOR OFFICERS

411 The honesty, integrity and sound judgment of Senior Officers is fundamental to the reputation and success of the Corporation. While all employees are required to adhere to the Corporation’s policies and Code of Business and Employee Conduct, the professional and ethical conduct of Senior Officers is essential to the proper function and success of the Corporation.

General

412 To the best of their knowledge and ability, Senior Officers of the Corporation must -

- Act with honesty and integrity and avoid actual or apparent conflicts of interest in personal and professional relationships. Conflicts of interest arise when an individual, or a member of his or her immediate family, receives, or appears to receive, improper personal benefits as a result of his or her position in the Corporation. Actual or apparent conflicts of interest include, but are not limited to, the following examples -

- (v) accepting money, personal gifts, discounts, loans (other than loans from lending institutions at prevailing interest rates), or other special treatment or gratuities from any supplier or competitor of the Corporation, save where permitted in accordance with KCRC's policies and Code of Business and Employee Conduct.
- Provide colleagues with, or cause to be provided, information that is full, fair, accurate, complete, objective, relevant, timely and understandable, for disclosure purposes in reports and documents that the Corporation files with or submits to any Hong Kong or other securities regulatory body or securities exchange or any other public communications.
 - Comply, and take all reasonable actions to cause others to comply, with the applicable laws, rules and regulations of Hong Kong or other foreign state or country whose laws may apply to the Corporation in any particular circumstances.
 - Act in good faith, with due care, competence and diligence, without misrepresenting, misstating, exaggerating, omitting or otherwise untruthfully, carelessly or wrongfully disclosing material facts or information pertaining to the Corporation or allowing independent judgment to be subordinated or biased.
 - Respect the confidentiality of information acquired in the course of employment and not use such confidential information in an unethical or opportunistic manner, such as (a) taking for themselves personal opportunities related to the Corporation's business; (b) using the Corporation's property, information or position for personal gain; or (c) competing with the Corporation for business opportunities.
 - Share knowledge among themselves and the Corporation's employees and maintain skills necessary and relevant to the Corporation's needs.
 - Proactively promote ethical and honest behaviour within the Corporation.
 - Ensure the responsible use of and control of all the Corporation's assets, resources and information for legitimate business purposes only.

413 All Senior Officers are expected to adhere to both the Corporation's policies and Code of Business and Employee Conduct and this Code of Ethics for Senior Officers at all times.

Record Keeping

414 The Corporation requires honest and accurate recording and reporting by all Senior Officers of information in order to make responsible business decisions. All of the Corporation's books, records, accounts and financial statements must be maintained in reasonable detail, must appropriately reflect the Corporation's transactions and must conform both to applicable legal requirements and to the Corporation's system of internal controls. Unrecorded or "off the books" funds or assets should not be maintained unless permitted by applicable law or regulation.

Accurate and timely periodic reports

415 The Corporation is committed to providing full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in periodic reports and documents that the Corporation files, or submits to, its shareholder or the applicable regulatory bodies and in other public communications. Specifically, the Senior Officers shall exercise their best endeavours to ensure that the Corporation -

- maintains accurate books and records that fully, fairly and accurately reflect the Corporation's financial information and reporting of transactions;
- ensure that the financial statements and other financial information included in periodic and other reports is prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and fairly presents in all material respects the financial condition, results of operations and cash flows of the Corporation;

- maintain such disclosure controls and procedures to ensure that material information relating to the Corporation is made known to management, particularly during the periods in which the Corporation's periodic reports are being prepared;
- maintain such internal controls and procedures for financial reporting to provide reasonable assurances that the Corporation's financial statements are fairly presented in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles;
- prohibit the establishment of any undisclosed or unrecorded funds or assets;
- disclose material off-balance sheet transactions in compliance with applicable laws and regulations; and
- otherwise present information in a clear and orderly manner.

Reporting any illegal or unethical behaviour

416 Senior Officers have a duty to adhere to the Code and the Corporation's policies and the Code of Business and Employee Conduct, and to report promptly to the Corporation any suspected violations in accordance with the applicable procedures. Senior Officers are required to report promptly to the Corporation's Company Secretary, who shall submit a report to the Audit Committee, regarding any observed violations of the Code, or any other illegal or unethical behaviour.

417 The Code of Ethics for Senior Officers cannot and is not intended to cover every applicable law or to anticipate every issue that may arise, but does set out the basic principles to be followed. If a Senior Officer is unclear about a particular situation, guidance must first be sought from the Company Secretary or, where appropriate, the Audit Committee before taking action.

418 Only the Managing Board shall have the sole and absolute discretionary authority to approve any amendment to or any deviation or waiver from the Code of Ethics for Senior Officers.

Accountability

419 While the Corporation's Company Secretary will oversee the procedures designed to implement the Code, it is the individual responsibility of each Senior Officer to become familiar with the Code, to adhere to the standards and restrictions set forth herein, to conduct himself or herself accordingly and to avoid even the appearance of impropriety.

431 It is the responsibility of each Senior Officer to promote compliance with the standards and restrictions imposed by laws, rules and regulations applicable to the Corporation.

432 Each Senior Officer shall notify the Company Secretary promptly if he or she knows of any violation of the Code. Failure to do so is itself a violation of the Code.

433 Upon adoption of the Code (or thereafter as applicable, upon becoming a Senior Officer), each Senior Officer shall affirm in writing to the Company Secretary that he or she has received, read and understood the Code. Annually thereafter each Officer shall affirm that he or she has complied with the requirements of the Code.

434 Any matters that the Company Secretary becomes aware of which he or she believes is a conflict of interest or a violation of the Code, shall be reported to the Audit Committee which, if it is satisfied that a conflict of interest exists or that there has been a violation of the Code, shall refer the matter to either the Chief Officer or the Managing Board, depending on the nature and gravity of the conflict of interest or violation, who will take such action as may be deemed appropriate. The Audit Committee shall be responsible for reviewing any requests for waivers from the provisions of the Code.

435 Any amendments to the Code must be approved or ratified by the Managing Board.

SECTION 5: THE CORPORATION'S EXTERNAL AUDITOR, RISK MANAGEMENT AND INTERNAL CONTROLS

POLICY

501 The Corporation's activities are subject to two levels of audit control. The first arises as a consequence of Section 14B of the KCRC Ordinance, whereby the Chief Executive of the HKSAR appoints the auditor (the External Auditor) for the Corporation to audit the Corporation's annual accounts after consultation with the Corporation. The Audit Committee is responsible for detailed oversight of the work of the External Auditor.

502 The second level involves monitoring and assessing the adequacy of the Corporation's own internal controls. This is the responsibility of both management and the Internal Auditor acting independently.

EXTERNAL AUDITOR

511 Although the Chief Executive of the HKSAR appoints the External Auditor to audit the Corporation's annual accounts, the Audit Committee of the Corporation must pre-approve any other audit and non-audit services performed by the External Auditor in order to assure that they do not impair the auditor's independence from the Corporation.

512 The External Auditor works closely with the Audit Committee in undertaking his duties. The External Auditor reports to the Managing Board through the Audit Committee. He is given the opportunity at every Audit Committee meeting to request an "in camera" session with only the members of the Committee present, so that he can raise matters of a sensitive nature where it might be inappropriate for any representatives of the executive management to be present.

RISK MANAGEMENT

521 The Corporation has established an Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) framework for the strategic management of business risks. The framework covers four main areas –

- (a) risk identification;
- (b) risk evaluation;
- (c) risk mitigation; and
- (d) risk monitoring and reporting.

522 For each of the risks identified, the Chief Officer is responsible for evaluating the risk from two perspectives, namely, the likelihood of the risk occurring and the severity of the consequences if the risk were to occur. The Corporation adopts a five-level likelihood of the risk occurring (i.e. very unlikely, unlikely, possible, likely, very likely) and a four-level consequence (i.e. significant, major, critical, catastrophic). One of four levels of risk rating is then derived for each individual risk item based on the degree of likelihood and severity of the consequence (i.e. low, medium, high, very high). An ERM register of risks is drawn up using this methodology. The risk register is reviewed annually and a report made to the Audit Committee, which will then decide whether there are matters that should be brought to the attention of the Managing Board.

523 To mitigate each of the identified risks, especially those involving a higher level of risk, the Chief Officer is responsible for proposing and implementing appropriate mitigation measures under the overall direction of the Managing Board via the Audit Committee.

INTERNAL CONTROL

531 The Managing Board is ultimately responsible for ensuring the adequacy of the internal controls of the Corporation and its subsidiaries, and for setting appropriate policies in respect of managing risk and monitoring the effectiveness of the necessary controls.

532. The Chief Officer, supported by a working group comprising senior management, is delegated the day-to-day responsibility of implementing and managing the system of internal controls, and for satisfying the Managing Board as to the adequacy of those controls. The Chief Officer must identify and evaluate the risks faced by the Corporation and propose a suitable system of internal controls and the mechanism for monitoring those controls via the Audit Committee to the Managing Board for its approval.

533 The Internal Auditor plays a major role, independent of management, in assessing and monitoring the internal controls of the Corporation. The Internal Auditor is responsible for evaluating the adequacy, cost-effectiveness and efficiency of the Corporation's internal control systems and procedures and for determining whether there is proper compliance with the Corporation's policies, rules and procedures.

534 Under the Outsourcing Agreement with the MTR Corporation, the MTR Corporation's Internal Auditor also provides the same service to the KCRC. In relation to the internal audit service rendered under the Outsourcing Agreement, the Internal Auditor reports directly to the Audit Committee of the Managing Board of the KCRC.

535 Audits are selected based on risk assessment to ensure that business activities with the highest risk are covered.

536 The Internal Auditor's staff perform independent audits of the Corporation's activities but have no involvement in day to day operations.

537 In performing their audits, staff of the Internal Auditor have full access to all of the Corporation's employees, records and property.

538 At the start of an audit, a notification is sent by the Internal Auditor to the individual responsible for the activities to be audited.

539 Upon completion of an audit, an audit report is issued to the individual responsible for the audited activities and copied to the Chief Officer and the External Auditor. Significant audit issues and the follow up results are also reported to the Audit Committee.

540 The Internal Auditor submits a half-yearly report to the Audit Committee on significant audit issues and implementation status of audit recommendations that fall due.
